

Roger A. Smith, M.F.A.

Dear Reviewing Committee:

I am a figurative painter and sculptor with a flair for portraiture and landscape, who has discovered and developed, over the past seven years, a new, visual-arts repertoire: scenic art for the theater and music hall.

No visual-art form is complete without a serious consideration of materials and composition. Therefore, I find myself challenged to go beyond bare-boned representation. I take heed of aesthetic matters from inception to completion, indeed relying heavily on serendipitous effects. Not only do I watch for "happy accidents," I set myself up for these mysterious events to occur. Let it suffice to say that while exploring the five elements of composition, line, value, color, texture, and shape, one can produce a world of interestingly beautiful effects, whether of representational or abstract content.

I am responsible, energetic, and possess excellent communication skills. I am receptive, and although I am usually somewhat taciturn, my voice, clear and strong, gives me an advantage as a public speaker. Indeed, I do much public speaking where I work, teaching brain-injured clients life's skills.

My many interests include acting, singing, reading, photography, psychology, natural sciences, architecture, and nature (the out-of-doors). I enjoy health-giving activities, such as, bicycling, cross-country skiing, weight training, isometrics, and western-style horsemanship, having been partly reared on cattle and sheep ranches from a very early age.

I invite you to peruse my visual-arts and performing-arts resumes which include myriad theater productions in which I have participated both as a performer and scenic artist. I hope that you will consider me as being a strong contender for the job of which I have been invited to submit an application, a job which I think would suit us very well in light of my skills, talents, education; my experience as a teacher and as an artist, and because of my interest in the live theater.
